Cracking Adobe Photoshop is a bit more complicated. First, you need to download a program called a keygen. This program will generate a serial number for you and then activate your software without having to pay for it. After you finish downloading the keygen, run it and enter the serial number in the \"How to use this software\" section. The keygen will generate a valid serial number, so you can activate your software. Now you can install Adobe Photoshop and enter the serial number. Once that is completed, you can start using the software.

Pretend I'm the President for a minute and I go to Photoshop and decide I want to make this picture. It'll be called, "Obama's Children Today". I check out the color, scale, how it looks. "I need a picture of Obama today," I say. So, I go to my kindergartener and say, "Put your finger in the giant hole, I need a picture of you today." The next day, I say, "Hi, little Bob. Today, I want a picture of you holding my car keys." The day after that, I say, "Hi, little Bob. Today, I want a picture of you watching me play golf today." And so on for a week... yes, that's all I do, "Hi little Bob, today, I want a picture of you holding my keys today." (get the feeling?) "...and now, version 2.0. And I want this picture to have no more than ten faces in it. I want people, to come in here, and tell me things. You know, gossip. I want the picture of Obama to reflect that." Of course, I'm not President, and Photoshop doesn't give you access to the White House. So, I have to actually walk to a nearby corner store, and buy some gossip. It's very expensive. The head of the store tells me my price, that I'll need to fill out a form, and make a few payments upfront too. And, of course, if I want more than one piece of gossip, these initial payments get bigger. Soon, I'm in debt to the place. I'm a Photoshop guru. I can design entire websites and post them to actual browsers. I can write articles, and make slideshows, and eye-popping video with a few clicks. I can do this with my old laptop, and I can do it with my new MacBook Pro. I can create apps. I can code. I can upload content to Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and Flickr. I can do it all.
